Kamishihoro town is located in the north of the Tokachi plain, at the eastern foot of the Daisetsuzan National Park. The town abounds with majestic scenery, from the Naitai Highland Farm, the largest public farm in Japan, to the views at Mikuni Pass, the highest point on a national road in all of Hokkaido. It is also the home of the Nukabira Gensenkyo, an onsen district where both lodging and day trip guests can enjoy spring waters that flow directly from the source. Visitors can also enjoy a number of nature tours and activities, such as a hike towards the famous Taushubetsu bridge in Lake Nukabira.
